2011 White House Ornament

The Official 2011 White House Ornament is a celebration of the holiday season with President Theodore "Teddy" Roosevelt. The ornament reflects the excitement that Roosevelt, his wife Edith, and their lively family brought to life at the White House.

The front face of the ornament is derived from a 1901 political cartoon: Conveying the anticipation of the family's first White House Christmas, a jolly Santa Claus announces, "I hear there are some kids in the White House this year!" The reverse side captures the moment in 1903 when Roosevelt's young son, Archie, reveals to his family a Christmas tree he had hidden in a seamstress's closet in the White House.

To order White House Ornaments, please contact Mawi Nutley or Gretchen Grindle at whitehouseornaments@lbband.org or (703) 426-8777. Make checks payable to Bruin Band Boosters. And remember, all prior years' ornaments, starting from 1981, are also available to complete your collection!
