

Kennedy Center Instrument Petting Zoo (IPZ)

The final Instrument Petting Zoo of the year will be May 15. The National Symphony Orchestra program will be “Beethoven Lives Upstairs” with excerpts from his most famous works.

We will be back to the previous petting zoo schedule: students will sign up for both petting zoo sessions and attend the early concert between the two (like we used to).

We travel there in carpools, demonstrate instruments provided by the Kennedy Center, and then attend the concert for free.

If there is enough interest, we could have some students come for the late petting zoo session, but they would not be able to attend a concert.

Sign-up sheets are in the band room. The schedule is:

- 10:30 am – Meet at LBSS door 14. We plan to leave by 11.
- 12 – 12:45 – participate in first zoo
- 1 pm – attend concert
- 2 – 2:45 – participate in second zoo
- 3 – depart Kennedy Center for LBSS arriving by 4 pm
